

Management and Marketing

BMEGT20MN47

Marketingmanagement

BMEGT20MN54

Zsuzsanna Szalkai, PhD

associate professor

Department of Management and Business Economics

szalkai.zsuzsanna@gtk.bme.hu

Topic 3: Collecting Information

Zsuzsanna Szalkai, PhD

associate professor

Department of Management and Business Economics

szalkai.zsuzsanna@gtk.bme.hu

Topic 3

Learning Objectives

1. What are the components of a modern marketing information system?
2. What are useful internal records for a marketing information system?
3. What makes up a marketing intelligence system?
4. What are some influential macroenvironment developments?

Making marketing decisions in a fast-changing world is both an art and a science

MIS consists of people, equipment, and procedures to gather, sort, analyze, evaluate, and distribute needed, timely and accurate information to marketing decision makers.

Marketing Information System (MIS)

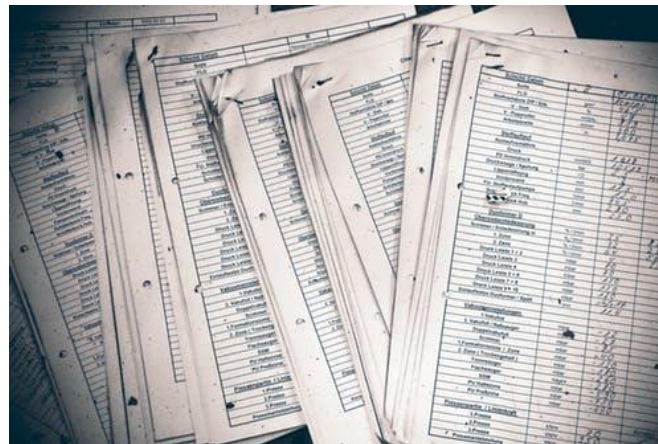

Components of a Modern Marketing Information System (MIS)

- ✓ Internal company records
- ✓ Marketing intelligence activities
 - ✓ Marketing research

- Internal reports of orders
- Sales
- Prices
- Costs
- Inventory levels
- Receivables
- Payables

Internal records are collections of consumer and market information obtained from data sources
within the company
network

- Marketing intelligence system: a set of procedures and sources that managers use to obtain everyday information about developments in the marketing environment
- Marketing managers collect marketing intelligence by reading books, newspapers, and trade publications; talking to customers, suppliers, distributors, and other company managers; and monitoring online social media

Marketing intelligence

Marketing Intelligence on the internet

- Independent customer goods and service review forums
- Distributor or sales agent feedback sites
- Combo sites offering customer reviews and expert opinions
- Customer complaint sites
- Public blogs

Analyzing the Macroenvironment

- Needs and Trends:

- Fad

Unpredictable, short-lived, without social, economic, and political significance

- Trend

More predictable, and durable, reveals the shape of the future and can provide strategic direction

- Megatrend

Large social, economic, political, and technological change that has influence for long term (7-10 years or longer)

Six major forces in the broad environment

Demographic

Natural

Economic

Technological

Socio-cultural

Political-legal

Identifying the Major Forces

- Worldwide population growth
- Population age mix
- Ethnic and other markets
- Educational groups
- Household patterns

The Demographic Environment

CONSUMER PSYCHOLOGY: new consumer spending patterns appear after the recession in 2008

INCOME DISTRIBUTION: countries with 5 different income distribution patterns

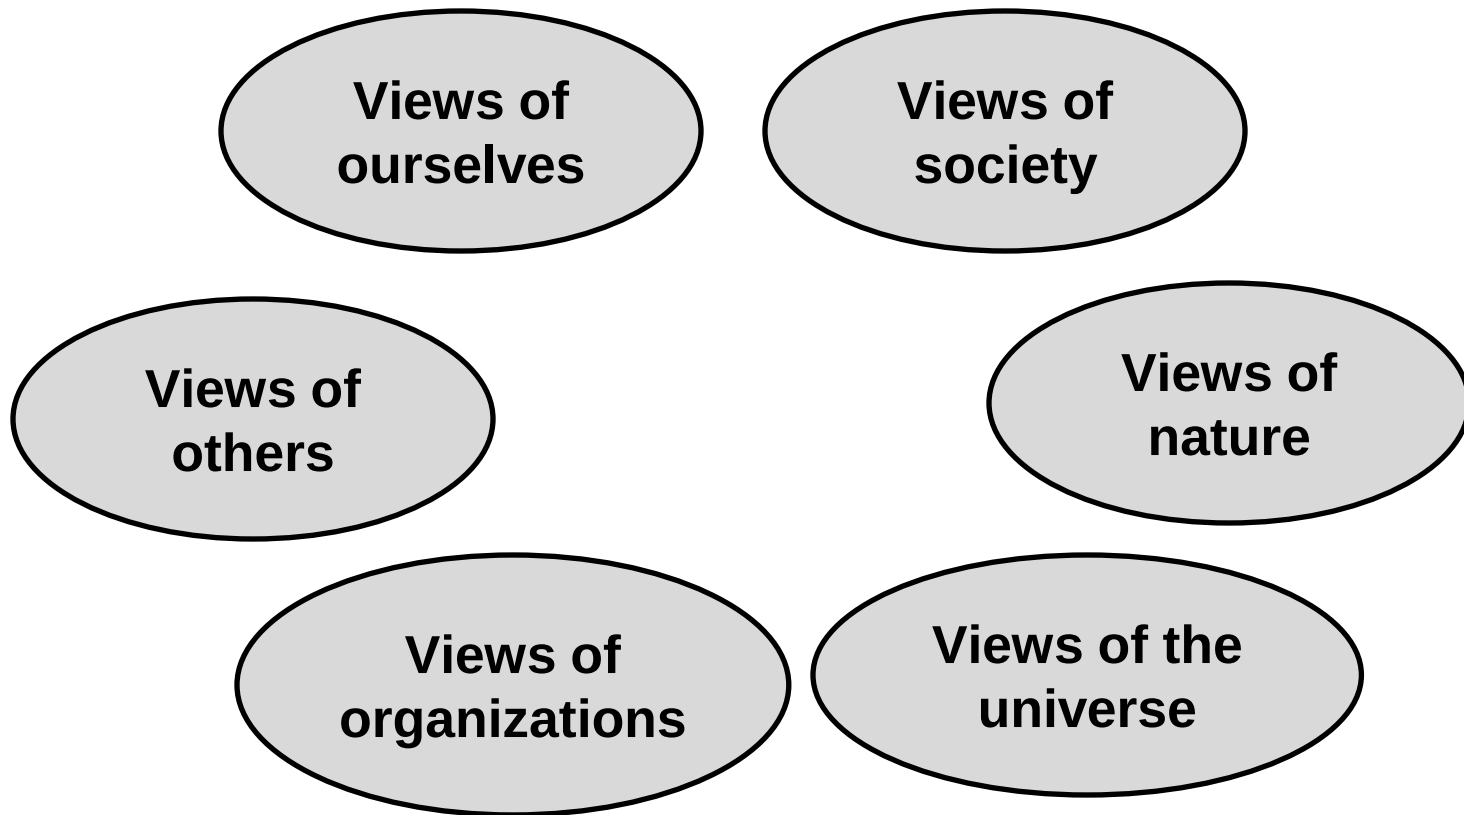

INCOME, SAVINGS,
DEBT, CREDIT

The Economic Environment

The Sociocultural Environment

(Core cultural values and subcultures)

- Corporate environmentalism
 - Opportunities await those who can reconcile prosperity with environmental protection

The natural environment

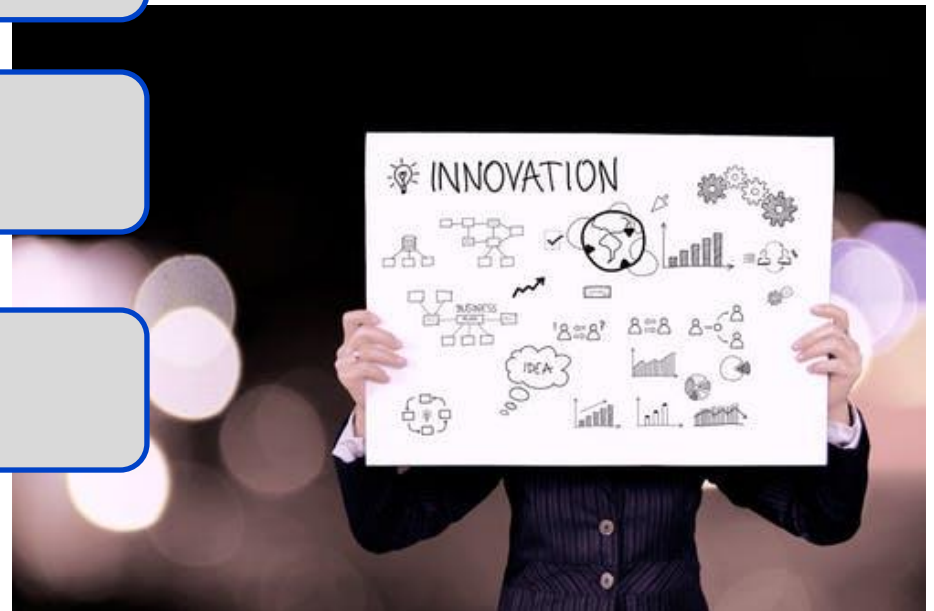

Accelerating pace of change

Unlimited opportunities for innovation

Varying R&D budgets

Increased regulation of technological change

The Technological Environment

LAWS

GOVERNMENT
AGENCIES

PRESSURE GROUPS

The Political-Legal Environment

- Definition and elements of the marketing information system

- Major forces of the macroenvironment – company reactions

KEY TAKEAWAYS

Thank You for Your Attention!

